

Southland

Tim

43.

58 CONTINUED: (2)

58

ARIELLE (cont'd)

Okay. Bye now!

Arielle sees a jar marked "Skittles" sitting on the counter. She grabs a handful of baggies as she walks out of --

59 EXT. DISPENSARY - CONTINUOUS

59

Still one continuous shot as she walks away from the store, pulls her hood and sunglasses off and lowers the bandana to reveal a great big smile.

She gets into the car. She holds up one of the baggies.

ARIELLE

Skittle?

Dean, already in the driver seat, LAUGHS. He puts the car in gear and they take off into the night.

60 EXT. PARKING LOT - MORNING

60

Dean slides open the action on the black and silver Colt Defender as Arielle watches.

They're in a parking lot -- abandoned and overgrown with weeds -- standing at the back of an old pick up truck.

The gun and truck owner, a real 2nd Amendment type named TIM, leans against the side of the truck, chewing tobacco.

TIM

Put a few rounds through her but she's alright.

DEAN

Trigger pull?

TIM

'Bout five pounds. Got a nice roll on it too, sneaks up on ya.

DEAN

Magazines?

TIM

Got two more in addition to the one currently in the gun.

Start Sc. 1

1/2

(CONTINUED)

ARIELLE
(whispering)
Whaddya think? Look good?

DEAN
Yep. You like it?

Arielle nods. He hands it to Arielle. She admires her new gun.

DEAN (cont'd)
$400?

Tim nods and spits.

While Dean counts out the cash, Arielle takes a selfie sans face of her holding the gun. She types: "New Toy. Watch out" and posts the image.

DEAN (cont'd)
You have any ammo with you?

TIM
Whaddya looking for? Hollow point?

DEAN
If you got it. We'll take a couple hundred rounds. .45 and 9mm if you got it.

Tim pulls several boxes from the front of his truck. Dean counts out more cash -- hands it over.

DEAN (cont'd)
Now. Anybody comes asking about this gun, what are you gonna say?

Tim looks at Dean for a second -- considers.

TIM
I'm gonna tell 'em the great State of Florida says it ain't none of their goddamn business.

Dean smiles. They shake hands.

End Sc. 1

Arielle and Dean walk over to their car, carrying the merchandise.

DEAN
Goddamn, I'm gonna miss Florida.