

Kim helms a meeting of the Emergency Management Association, which includes 4 Emergency Managers - STEVE (50's), NOAH (25), OLIVIA (40's) and YVETTE (60's) - and several (5) uniformed EMS reps (Fire, Police, Paramedic), including Vicky and her boss. A map of KINGMAN COUNTY streams from Kim's computer to a wall-mounted TV.

Start

KIM

The next thing is signage. Stores, schools, churches, gas stations.

OLIVIA

This is county-wide?

KIM

Correct.

POLICE CHIEF

What's the message?

KIM

For now: "Tornadoes Possible. Be Weather Aware." I've also initiated a social media push. Noah'll be updating live.

End

FIRE CHIEF

Do you think that's strong enough? They've gone high risk.

KIM

I'm aware. We need people to respond quickly and calmly in the event a warning's issued. If we shout "the sky's falling" too many times without it happening, no one'll take action when it does.

Looks of agreement from the room.

STEVE

Are we going to review the Infrastructure Response Protocol?

KIM

I don't think that's necessary. I know my IRP responsibilities, does everybody else?

She looks at the EMS leads. They all do.

KIM (CONT'D)

Okay, let's move on...
